E-Safety

Issue 9

IN THIS ISSUE: YOUTUBE CHANNELS

This term each class has completed an e-safety questionnaire to give us a better understanding of where we need to support the children in keeping themselves safe.

Results

The class results from these questionnaires will be sent out to each class separately for your interest. The results have been used in school to inform our planning and teaching of e-safety in the next half term.

We as a staff are investigating some of the APPs and programs which the children put into their questionnaires so that we have a better understanding of how to keep them safe. We suggest if you are not clear what some of these are yourself you ask your child about it or try it out yourself.

YouTube

One of the most popular ways of they use computers/mobile phones now is through YouTube. For some of the pupils it is just watching YouTube but it is a growing trend now to have their own YouTube channel.

When you become a YouTube member, YouTube assigns a personal channel to you. The channel has divisions designed to display a short personal description, thumbnails of videos you've uploaded, members to whom you've subscribed, videos from other members you've picked as favorites, lists of members who are your friends and subscribers and a section where other people can comment on your channel.

You can visit another member's personal channel by clicking on his or her user name. Here, you can view all of the YouTuber's videos as well as all the videos he or she picked as favorites. You can even see the other members to whom the YouTuber has subscribed. Personal channels let you explore YouTube as a social network rather than as a simple video database -- you can find users who like the same kinds of videos you do and find out what they are watching.

Attached to the this newsletter is a YouTube Parents' Guide for your information.

Police Visit

In addition to our class teaching we recently had PC Chris in to talk about stranger danger and e-safety. The children were very honest in the ways in which they use the internet.
